At Consquare, every project begins as a composition. It is an active dialogue between space, intent, and experience.

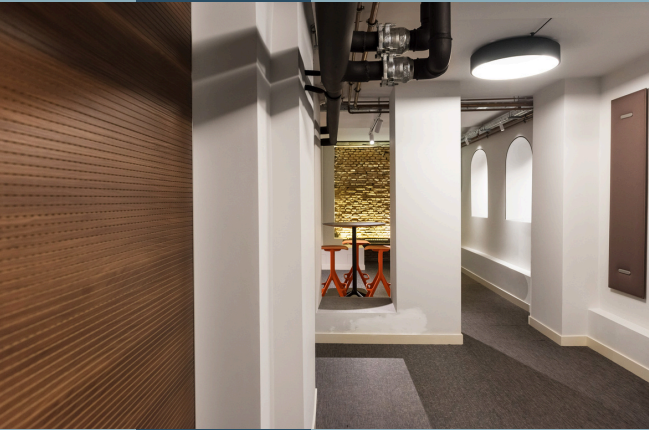

We select, propose, and create with purpose, always in pursuit of functionality and coherence.

Our perception of space is defined by it's own nature – lived every day, shaped by rhythm, clarity, and enduring relevance.

All our decisions come from strategic thinking.

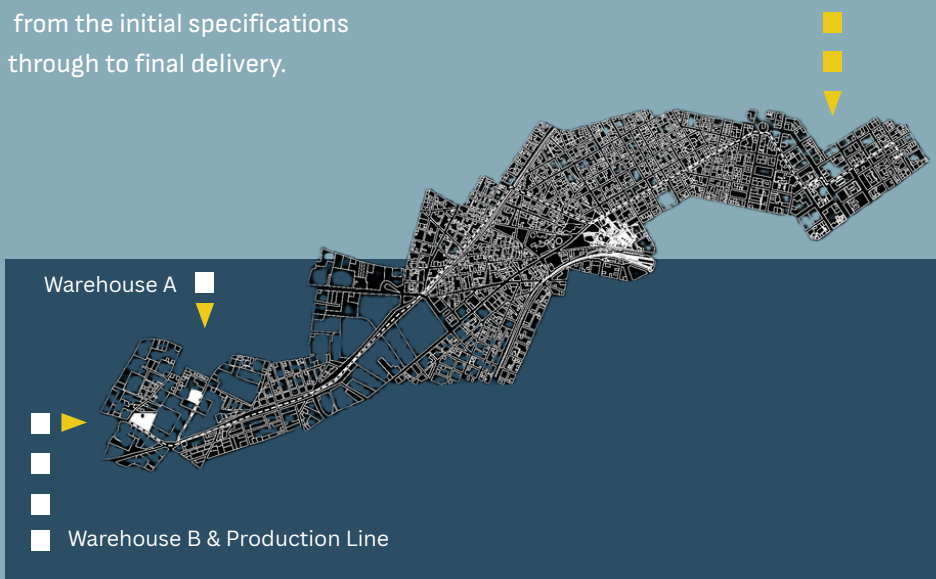

Every material,
every application,
every detail,
serve the needs of the project.

We work in service of the architectural vision behind every project, ensuring that each solution responds meaningfully to its intent, requirements and use.

From our neoclassical showroom in the heart of Athens to our production and warehousing facilities in Tavros, we work with precision, consistency, and care from the initial specifications through to final delivery.

our modus operandi

► We interpret rather than dictate.

We identify the intent behind a project and translate it into clear material and technical decisions.

► Precision is one of our foundations.

We keep the process intentionally simple. Through transparency, structure, and accuracy, we build trust. Trust leads to better outcomes.

► Aesthetics are never abstract.

Every decision serves function, coherence, and the overall experience of a space.

We create environments that inspire the senses and perform with integrity.

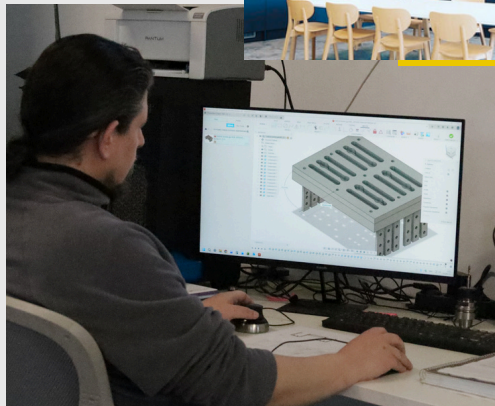

our modus operandi

► Constraints are catalysts. Time, budget, technical requirements – every decision reflects the realities of the project. Specifications are the canvas.

► Durability matters. A successful composition should improve with time, not compete against it. We pursue longevity over jargon.

■ Office furniture may not change the world. The people who use it can.

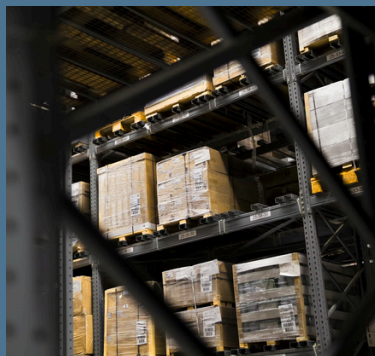

We started out independent by design and we remain by choice

Our independence allows us to make recommendations with clarity and objectivity. We are not bound to specific products, collections, or manufacturers. Every proposal is shaped around the context of the project, never around available inventory.

We work collaboratively, fostering meaningful dialogue between architects, engineers, clients, and suppliers.

We act with accountability from the first proposal to the final implementation, remaining loyal to the intent of the project.

For us, unbiased creation is not a luxury.
It is the foundation of our work.

We approach each project with care because sustainability is more than a trend.

For us, sustainability is a continuous condition, present at every stage of a project, from brief to implementation.

We prioritise solutions with a considered lifecycle: recycled and recyclable materials, reusable systems, and responsible suppliers.

If a solution does not serve both the space and its environment, we consciously choose not to pursue it.

We collaborate with brands that actively reduce their environmental impact and invest in more responsible ways of producing.

For our team, sustainability is a matter of respect towards the project, the people and our shared future.

Responsibility begins with awareness.
